MJ Church's Italian Job

MJ Church have bought three OM Keestrack Crushers:- after putting over 30,000 hours on his three previous OM crushers, and with their usual extensive testing, MJ Church know as well as anyone that you cannot get better quality kit than OM Keestrack. Their unique design of a continuous Non Stop System (NSS) means that crushing with an OM simply cannot be beaten.

The 3 new crushers are part of a larger £1 million order which also includes a Keestrack Screen, Hyundai R210LC-9 tracked excavator and Hyundai R170W-9 and R140W-9 wheeled excavators.

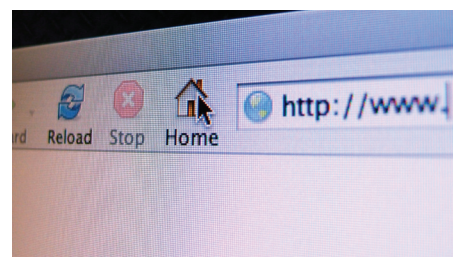

Beware of Internet Fraud!

The old saying 'Thick as Thieves' maybe a saying of the past in these more modern times - the extent of fraudulent activity on the internet is always growing and fraudsters are becoming ever more sophisticated. The construction equipment industry and the way in which we operate has changed a great deal in recent years, we are all being offered machines via e-mail and different websites. Please remember another old saying - if the offer sounds too good to be true, it probably is too good to be true!

Fraudsters are now taking information from different websites (including Molson's) and advertising machinery elsewhere for sale, once they have an interested party they take a payment usually by online transfer and disappear with the innocent customer's money!

Please be aware and only buy from a known source and somebody you trust - the Molson website is always a good place to start!

Set In Concrete

PJ Davidson of South Devon has recently received media attention for reaching the incredible milestone of having laid one million metres of slip formed concrete. Pete Davidson remains firmly in the driving seat in more ways than one, he is permanently on the road and the majority of the company organisation is done from the seat of his Range Rover. Pete has 80 men working on a 12 hour rotation, 12 hours on and 12 hours off to keep his machines running. 'Usually on an ordinary day shift we can average 300 Linear meters of wall' Davidson said. 'If we go 24 hours nonstop, we will average 700 linear meters. I want to hit one kilometre of production in a day, but we have not done that....yet'

It has taken Pete over 14 years to achieve the million metre mark, but he is very confident that the next million will not take nearly as long. He is currently working in the UK on the Channel Tunnel Rail Link project beneath London and on a tunnel project in Sweden, and now has also won a £9million project working on the M25 carrying out work to the central reservation.

As well as their slip-form machines, PJ Davidson also operate Hyundai R210LC-9 & R145LCR-9 excavators, and with this new project on the M25 Pete has added yet another Hyundai R210LC-9 to his fleet!

Keyway Expand their Fleet with Molson & Hyundai

Long standing Molson customer Keyway (Gloucester) have expanded their fleet with the addition of 30 new Hyundai excavators. The biggest single Hyundai order to date for Molson consists of Hyundai R210LC-9, R145LCR-9, R140LC-9, R80CR-9 & R60CR-9 models. This order is the latest deal done in the long partnership between Molson & Keyway which spans 17 years.

One of the main reasons Keyway opted for Hyundai was down to the quality of the -9 series. Keyway already operate several Hyundai -9's and they have been very impressed with how Hyundai compared to other brands in their hire fleet.

This positive experience together with the back-up provided by both Hyundai and Molson convinced Keyway to invest in the Hyundai brand once again.
